DETAILED ACTION

1. Claim 32 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The phrase "relatively soft-touch plastic material" (cl 32, lns 4-5) is indefinite because the metes and bounds of the term "relatively" have not been established by the instant disclosure.

The phrase "the manufacture" (cl 34, ln 2) lacks antecedent basis in the claim.

Correction is required.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 20,21,26,27,28,29,30,31, and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gajewski (USPN 5458361). Gajewski teach the claimed process as evidenced at figs 1-15.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 22-25 and 33-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gajewski (USPN 5458361). The above teachings of Gajewski are incorporated hereinafter. In regard to claims 22-25, such design features are mere matter of choice dependent on the desired final product and of little patentable consequence to the claimed process since it is not a manipulative feature or step of the claimed process. Further, the claimed design features are well-known in the trim and switcher art. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the claimed design features into the molded article of Gajewski in order to efficiently produce diverse products. In regard to claims 33-39, application of a cover layer by spraying or rotocasting over a foam cushion layer and/or composite molded article is well-known in the trim and automotive art. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the design features, i.e., the cover layer and foam layer, into the trim article of Gajewski in order to produce diverse articles.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following USPNs teach the state of the art:
6737596, 5947511, 4459256, and 4732724.
